

Leslie Dughi

Leslie Dughi has nearly three decades of experience advocating for clients before Florida’s legislative and executive branches. She has spearheaded significant legislative initiatives for health care providers and facilities, national transportation providers, as well as workers’ compensation, property and casualty, and life and health insurers. Throughout her career, Leslie has honed her expertise in political communications, having served as the Political Director for Associated Industries of Florida and the Director of Government Affairs for the Florida Chamber of Commerce. Leslie’s advocacy practice focuses on several policy areas with an emphasis on health care, insurance, transportation, appropriations, and general business issues.
